

- Makes sanding faster, easier and more effective for auto body repair and other jobs
- Rubber block conforms to sanding surfaces, keeps sandpaper flat against the surface
- Helps ensure consistent sanding results without “sanding waves”
- Sized and shaped for comfort and control
- Internal attachment pins hold sandpaper securely in place

Our 3M™ Sanding Block is a professional grade tool that helps you achieve your best, fastest sanding work in auto body and other jobs. The pliable rubber block is designed to comfortably fit your hand and to keep sandpaper flat against automotive surfaces, helping ensure uniform sanding performance. Sanding blocks feature internal attachment pins to hold sandpaper firmly in place on the block.

Making the Difference Between Good Sanding and Great Sanding

Your sandpaper is just the start — to get the best finish, it takes the right tools. Our 3M™ Sanding Blocks are designed to help you attain your best, fastest auto body repairs involving body filler, putty and primer. These sanding blocks are shaped to fit into your hand for comfort, so you can sand longer and more intuitively. The rubber construction of the block delivers a combination of durability and conformability. It helps ensure that the sandpaper stays flat against the automotive body surface, even around curves and contours. Internal attachment pins hold the sandpaper firmly to the block, which prevents it from sliding and helps prolong the life of the sheet. This simple tool makes an amazing difference in consistency and overall results in auto body sanding.

A pliable rubber block which holds sandpaper securely during wet or dry sanding operations

Recommended Applications

- Hand sanding of primers, putty or body filler
- Suitable for wet or dry sanding
- For use on metal, drywall, wood, plastic, fiberglass and others

Better Science for Better Sanding from 3M

Small, simple and full of features that save time and money, our sanding blocks are excellent examples of how a single tool can deliver big advantages for your best, most successful auto sanding. With its design for comfort and its conformable rubber construction, the 3M™ Sanding Block is another way that 3M applies science to the life — and helps you get the most enjoyment and value from the vehicles you own.