

Details

- Specialty disc back-up pad for hand sanding
- Affords a straight and a curved 1/4" edge for hard-to-reach areas
- Designed for use with 3M™ Hookit™ discs
- Medium density foam provides conformability and very good support for leveling
- Allows for sanding to consistent finishes across entire surfaces

Our 3M™ Hookit™ Half Round Pad is built for hand sanding where round abrasive discs can't reach. Technicians simply wrap a 6" diameter 3M™ Hookit™ abrasive disc around the pad. Hookit™ hook-and-loop attachment keeps the disc stable on the pad during use. Its straight and curved edges, conformable medium density foam and 1/4" radius edge allow for effective sanding even in hard-to-reach areas.

Consistent Sanding Across the Entire Surface

Our 3M™ Hookit™ Half Round Pad lets you sand quickly and effectively without the time, expense and lack of consistency that can come from sanding hard-to-reach areas. Technicians simply wrap a 6" 3M™ Hookit™ abrasive disc around the pad for effective hand sanding. Its 1/4" edges, both straight and curved, help for sanding into contours or on thin vertical surfaces. The pad makes it easy to maneuver the abrasive disc surface into tight spaces, corners and other difficult areas in collision repair. And medium density foam construction provides support and conformability — great for leveling.

About Hookit™

3M offers a complete range of hook-and-loop style Hookit™ discs for work spaces where adhesive backed discs may become contaminated by dust, dirt, or flying debris. They are often used in applications where an adhesive backed disc may be too aggressive, as Hookit™ discs tend to leave finer finishes. Hookit™ sanding discs conveniently and firmly attach to a hook-and-loop backup disc pad (sold separately) on a random orbital sander, can be removed cleanly and easily, and can be re-used again and again for the extent of the abrasive life.

Better Science for Better Sanding from 3M

From a wealth of scientific development comes a range of 3M abrasives, tools and accessories for collision repair professionals. This 3M™ Hookit™ Half Round Pad demonstrates our commitment to making your work better, faster and easier through nearly any specific application.

Rely on premium auto detailing & care products by 3M if you're looking for quality and efficiency.