

TiProLight Wrenches

The Motion Pro TiProLight wrenches are a must have for the avid off road and trail rider. Weighing less than a quarter of a regular wrenches, these tools are sized to be carried in a tool pack and you will barely notice they are there. However, when it comes time to fix a problem on the side of the trail, you will be glad you have them. Made from high strength tool grade titanium alloy, these wrenches can do any job necessary and you will look cool doing it. The unique ergonomic design sets them apart from all other wrenches, and they are clearly laser marked with the size on each wrench. The titanium material means they will never corrode, so you can just forget them until you need them. Of course you won't, because you will want to show them off to all your riding buddies.

When it comes to quality motorcycle tools, Motion Pro is the brand you can depend on.
